JUDGE E. H. GARY PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK HOME

REQUEST COUNTY BALLOT BOXES BE IMPOUNDED; PROBLEM FOR OFFICIALS

Lawrence county has entered the Vare-Wilson controversy for the United States senate, or perhaps it might be better to say that the county has been invited to get into it. A letter of request has been received by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand and the board of county commissioners asking that the votes of the general election held in November, 1926, be impounded in order that they may be counted later.

The letters are written by David Barry, sergeant at-arms of the United States senate and being merely a request are not mandatory. What action will be taken here is problematical. Judge Hildebrand has made no decision in the matter and is doubtful of the advisability of impounding the boxes at this time.

Would Mean New Boxes.

Should the letter of request be followed out it would mean that each of the ballot boxes of this county would be taken from the judges of elections and stored in some convenient place until the senate investigating committee saw fit to lift them.

In the meantime there is a primary election coming on here on September 20 when ballot boxes will be

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR OLD TIMER'S DAY

Youngsters Of Yesteryear In New Castle To Gather Wednesday

Many Features Scheduled To Make Occasion Greatest Ever

"Old Timers" of this district, whether residents of the city or more distant points, are now all looking toward the east, to Cascade park, where on Wednesday, August 17, the 20th annual "Old Timers Day" will be held. From the interest shown and the inquiries made, there is every indication that it will be the greatest of these reunions.

On this occasion, those who have resided here and in the immediate vicinity since before 1861, or whose families resided here previous to that time will have their day, the event being designed to bring out the people or their descendants who had an important part in the early building of the city.

Plans Completed.

All plans have been completed by the committee in charge, consisting of Harvey E. McGoun, chairman; Ralph M. Campbell, vice chairman; William T. Butz, secretary and treasurer; Howard Morrison, J. Dick Long, Scott Paisley, Robert H. Whaley and Joseph Hannon.

Featuring the day will be the grand march held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the dancing pavilion. Owing to the limited space and the expected crowd, admission to the floor of the dancing pavilion has been limited to persons 65 years of age or more and the members of the committee in charge of the event.

These persons will participate in the grand march, which will be headed by Harvey E. McGoun, the chairman and last surviving member of the original Old Timers committee, which inaugurated these events in 1907. His daughter, Mrs. Fannie Gormley, will be his partner. Ralph M. Campbell will have charge of the grand march. The public will have ample opportunity to see the grand

Nine Airmen Are Ready To Try For Dole Air Prize

Eight Planes Have Qualified For Hazardous Flight To Hawaiian Islands

ANOTHER ENTRY EXPECTED TODAY

Millionaire Pineapple Packer To Pay First To Reach Island $25,000

By THOMAS R. CURRAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 15.—Officially licensed and qualified, eight Dole pilots made final routine inspections of their racing planes today as they nervously awaited the start of the great air derby to Honolulu at noon tomorrow. Capt. "Bill" Erwin of Dallas, the only entrant still unqualified, dashed through his final tests today.

Erwin was expected, however, to squeeze in before the deadline this morning, making a full roster of nine airmen that will jockey to Hawaii in the $35,000 Dole sweepstakes. James Dole, Hawaiian pineapple packer, will pay the first pilot to reach the island of Oahu $25,000. He will give the runner-up $10,000.

Two entrants were given the federal stamp of approval Sunday. They were Martin Jensen, the only Hawaiian pilot in the race, and Art Goebel, flyer of an Oklahoma monoplane.

Jensen and his navigator, Paul Schulter, trailed a 35-mile test course without a wobble, a check of their report showed. Goebel's "Woolaroc", with Lieut. William J. Davis navigating, deviated only three-quarters of a mile on a 24-mile cruise.

In addition to Jensen and Goebel, who will take off in seventh and eighth places tomorrow, the following planes, pilots and navigators have already been passed by Department

German Planes Fail In Effort To Cross Ocean

Second Plane Returns To Starting Field Today Due To Storms

WEATHER PREVENTS TRIP OVER OCEAN

Great Disappointment In Germany Because Of Failure Of Flight

(Bulletin)
(International News Service)

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 15.—The second German trans-Atlantic plane, the Bremen, returned to the flying field here at 4:24 o'clock, German daylight saving time today, abandoning its attempted trans-Atlantic flight to the United States.

The Bremen was compelled to abandon its flight because of heavy storms encountered soon after the plane passed Dublin, members of the crew announced when they landed.

The return of the Bremen brought groans of disappointment from officials of the Junkers Company and spectators, who were at the field when the plane came down. Absence of definite news of the plane's whereabouts had caused hopes that the Bremen had been able to win through the storms off the Irish coast to more favorable weather out over the Atlantic.

The big plane was brought down to a good landing, notwithstanding the heavy load of fuel still remaining in its tanks, so that none of the crew was injured, nor was the plane damaged in any way.

First Plane Down in Mud

(International News Service)

BREMEN, Germany, Aug. 15.—The Junkers plane Europa, which was forced to turn back after starting upon a non-stop flight from Dessau to the United States, was resting today in the mud of the Bremen flying field with her aluminum propellers twisted out of shape, her landing gear smashed and her tail badly damaged. A special guard was kept over the plane to ward off sightseers.

The pilots, Johann Risticz and Cornelius Edzard, were grief-stricken over the tragic ending of their hopes to share the first westbound trans-Atlantic honors with their fellow flyers upon the Bremen.

The Europa was forced by motor trouble to turn back after flying for 30 minutes out over the North Sea through severe thunder storms. The

FALSE ALARM IS BAFFLING

Firemen Unable To Understand Motive For Sunday Call

Receiving a telephone call Sunday night about 8:30 o'clock from a pay station, the Central fire department was informed that there was a fire at 15 South street.

The person sending in the alarm seemd rather familiar with conditions in the fire department and advised the man receiving the call that box 15 should be sounded.

The Central department apparatus responded but found no fire at the number given or anywhere in the vicinity.

Starts Probe.

This caused Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman to make an investigation. It was found that the person sending in the alarm had used the pay station at the P. and L. E. passenger station on West Washington street some little distance from the scene of the supposed fire.

Naturally there was no manner in which the call could be traced any further. As there have been a number of such calls in recent months it is believed that some person with a mania for seeing the fire apparatus in action is sending in the calls.

This proposition of putting fire apparatus out of regular service for no purpose at all other than furnishing some "lack-witt" with some excitement is a dangerous practice and and the person if finally caught will be dealt with to the full extent of the law it was stated

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—The sad and affectionate leave-taking of Gloria Swanson and her husband, Marquis De La Fa Aise, had quieted today rumors of an impending separation and divorce.

The Marquis is returning to France to arrange for an extension of his stay in the United States. Miss Swanson is detained in Hollywood by work in the studios.

Valley Aviator And Passenger Killed By Fall

Plane Engine Explodes And Drops Into Ohio River Sunday Afternoon

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15.—Funeral arrangements were made today for George W. Roth, Monaca aviator, and Kenneth B. Hercules, 23, bricklayer at the Pittsburgh Seamless Tube Co., Ambridge, who fell to their death in the Ohio river late yesterday when their airplane motor exploded.

George Dannerlin, employed at lock No. 4, said he was watching the airplane fly up the river when he saw a small burst from the motor. The wings of the machine apparently were blown off by the explosion that followed, and the plane nose-dived into the river in seven feet of water.

Hundreds of persons at egionville, Baden and Logans Ferry saw the machine as it rushed into the water, carrying with it the aviator and his passenger.

The two men were found strapped to their seats in the cockpit. They apparently had not had a chance for their lives and died by drowning when the water enveloped them.

The men were entangled in the wires of the machine and many bones in Roth's body were found to have been fractured either during the explosion or the fall which followed.

As the trio reached their automobile parked a short distance from the structure, a terrific explosion tore out the front of the home and rocked the neighborhood.

All the members of the Romana family were absent at the time of the explosion, and no one was injured

RESCUE FIFTY FROM ISLAND

Picnickers Are Taken From Island Submerged By Sudden Rains

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 15.—State highway patrolmen early today completed the rescue of fifty men, women and children, marooned on an island in Tunkhannock Creek at Nicholson, near here, when the creek went on a rampage.

The party came to the island from Hilldale, Luzerne county. To spend the day at a picnic. Heavy rains during the day caused the stream to rise to such height that it was impossible to cross.

A nearby resident learned of the party's plight and notified authorities. First efforts to reach the island by rowboat failed, but later boatmen succeeded in stretching a rope from the island to the shore, and boats were used as ferries, the last boatload being carried to safety early today.

Several women fainted but none was hurt during the rescue.

Sees Accident Fatal To Flier And Passenger

John W. Hughes of Knox avenue, this city, who is employed at the Jones & Laughlin plant at Woodlawn, Pa., was among the persons who saw the airplane accident at Legionville, near Ambridge, last evening about 5 o'clock when George W. Roth, an aviator from Monaca, Pa., and an unknown passenger were killed when Roth's machine collapsed and fell into the Ohio river at that point. There was apparently an explosion that wrecked the machine when it was at quite a height in the air, according to Mr. Hughes.

GARY'S DEATH IS MOURNED

Leaders Pay Tribute To Worth Of Great Industrial Leader

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The sudden death of Judge Elbert H. Gary came as a shock to governmental circles here today. The steel magnate always maintained a keen interest in governmental affairs and was widely known in official quarters.

Senator Reed Smoot, (R) of Utah, one of the Republican leaders of the senate, declared Judge Gary was "the greatest organizer of commercial projects in the world, and it will be hard to fill his place in American industrial life."

"He was a gentleman possessed of a master business mind," said Smoot, "always fair to the laboring class, and a true American."

In Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 15.—News of the death of Judge Elbert H. Gary was received with great sorrow in Pittsburgh, "world's steel capital," where he was a familiar figure.

William G. Clyde, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, issued the following statement when informed of Judge Gary's death in New York:

"While Judge Gary had lived a long life his passing nevertheless is a shock to all of us associated with him for many years. He lived a full and active life and was a great constructive force not alone in industrial life but in the life of the entire country.

"His accomplishments, his policies and his interests in all humanity will make a striking page in history."

It is likely that the big steel corporations will suspend business for a few moments during the judge's funeral.

"The judge," as he was affectionately known in steel circles was in Pittsburgh in 1925 when he came here in the interest of the University of Pittsburgh's campaign for its proposed new home, the "Cathedral of Learning."

That was the last time he viewed the city's thirty miles of steel mills, monuments to the great industry he fathered.

Head Of Steel Corporation Dies During Morning

Death Follows Three Weeks' Illness Of Eighty-Year-Old Steel Leader

DEATH NOTICE IS HELD UP 7 HOURS

Possible Effect Of Announcement On Steel Stocks Was Seen

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Elbert H. Gary, one of America's industrial giants, died in his home here today at the age of 80.

Judge Gary, who was chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, had been away from his desk for about three weeks because of a decline in his health, but death, at 3:30 o'clock this morning, was a surprise and a shock to his many friends in the financial district.

Organized U. S. Steel

He was one of the world's leading financiers, having organized the United States Steel Corporation in 1901, with the backing of J. Pierpont Morgan. He had been head of the big company ever since.

Because of the effect of Judge Gary's death on the stock market, news that he had passed away was withheld for hours and did not become known until some time after the

SORROW HERE OVER DEATH OF E. H. GARY

Industrial leaders of New Castle were profoundly shocked today when the news of the death of Judge Elbert H. Gary reached them. Some of them had met the judge during his lifetime, others had attended banquets where he had been, but whether they had any personal acquaintance with him or not, they knew of his influence in the industry which has helped to build New Castle, steel.

Robert J. Tully, general superintendent of the Carnegie Steel Company here, said: "in the passing of Judge Gary, not only the United States Steel Corporation, but the entire world, has lost an outstanding man. He was a remarkable man, a thorough American, and an executive of unusual ability. His place will be difficult to fill."

As far as is known Judge Gary never visited the plants of the United States Steel Corporation in this city, but it was his guiding genius that kept the wheels moving and every man in the employ of the corporation here regrets his passing.

Arthur Mometer

Haven't been out for a week orituo, and I reckon my game is rotten, those tricks I learned a few months ago are probably all forgotten. That ten yard chip that I learned from Doc I'll have to learn over again, and the chances are that my total score would be round about one hundred ten. For to play the game as it should be played, to go round in an eighty-two, a fellow must play nearly every day, never mind what he has to do. And I've been tied down for two weeks or so, and haven't been on the tee, and I have a hunch that I can't get down to anyways near ninety-three. But the boss is back and now perhaps I can slip out a bit and play, but gosh what a score for a while I'll make, its seventy-four today.

Sunday School Council Meets

Young People Gather At Y. W. C. A. On Sunday Afternoon

HEAR REPORTS OF RECENT CONFERENCES

An enjoyable program was carried out Sunday afternoon at the Sunday school council meeting held in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium. The meeting was presided over by Clarence Bratschie, president of the boys' department.

The theme of the meeting was "Young People's Training in Denominational Conferences" and it was well carried out.

Those in charge of the music of the meeting were Henry Brenneman, song leader, and Frances Turner, pianist.

Daniel Weyrick and Alice Mae Huffman then presented "Echoes From Kiski". They attended the conference which was held there and presented a fine report. Mrs. Sidney E. Smith, who attended the Cleveland convention of Christian Endeavor, then gave "Echoes From Cleveland". Hazel Campbell was next, giving a report on the New Wilmington Missionary conference held there last week.

Marguerite Palmer rendered a beautiful solo and Sam Francis gave a fine piano solo. The Myers quartet, composed of colored men, sang several selections. After that the Union Baptist quartet, composed of colored fellows also, rendered several selections.

After the program had been completed, a business meeting was held. T. J. Davies, general superintendent of the council, presided over this. Plans were made at this time for the council's annual picnic which will be held on Friday, September 2, at Elliot's Mills.

The program was closed by a friendship circle with Perry Shuler in charge.

needed and if the present ones were impounded it would mean the purchase of new ones.

The suggestion has been made that the ballots now in the boxes covering the election of last November be put into heavy manila envelopes and sealed and thus allow the use of the boxes on September 20.

The practice of emptying of ballot boxes is this. Following an election whether primary or general, the ballots are locked and sealed in the box. The box then is placed in storage until the next election and on the morning of the election before the polls are open the judge of the election board removes the old ballots and burns them.

Judge Hildebrand has answered the letter of Mr. Barry's but has received no reply. If any action is to be taken it must be soon as there are but six weeks intervening between now and the primary election day.

POWERFUL SIRENS FOR MOTOR COPS

Motorcycles used by Motorcycle Officers Ray Richards and Ralph Criswell have been equipped with sirens of great power and a peculiar sound. Motorists will do well in the future when they hear them to listen to their call, as it will be a sign that they are doing something they should not do and are wanted, or get out of the way as the officers are in a hurry and anxious to get to some destination.

"It Won't Do Any Harm to Try It."

Many people who should know better attempt to treat their own ills—perhaps in a way sincerely recommended by a friend—on the assumption that "it won't do any harm to try it."

Right there is where they are wrong—sometimes dangerously wrong.

In treating any ailment the first important thing is the diagnosis. This the average person is totally unqualified to do. Physicians won't attempt it for themselves.

Time lost in such experimenting often permits the real trouble to continue its way unchecked so that the physician eventually gets a dangerous case instead of one which could have been easily handled at the beginning.

The whole idea of self diagnosis and self medication is wrong. Don't attempt it. Let your physician do that.

"El Encanto", Norman A. Goddard, Kenneth Hawkins.

"Pabco Flyer", Livingston Irving (flying alone).

"Golden Eagle", Jack Frost, Gordon Scott.

"Miss Doran", Auggy Pedlar, W. A. Knope.

"Air King", Charles W. Parkhurst, Ralph C. Lowes Jr.

The preceding summary shows also the order in which the flyers will take off tomorrow. The line-up at the start was determined partly by drawing of lots and partly by the order in which the planes qualified.

Major Livingston Irving, the Berkeley aviator, was still undisturbed in his distinction of being the only flyer to attempt the hazardous hop alone. All other pilots will take along navigators to help them steer a true course for the tiny archipelago and mid-Pacific. Nor has any aviatrix appeared to threaten Mildred Doran's honor of being the only woman to fly in the race. The "flying schoolma'am" will accompany Pedlar and Knope in their big Buhl biplane.

Postponed Till Tomorrow

The race was originally scheduled for noon last Friday. With the possibility facing them, however, that only three of their number could qualify in time, the pilots themselves as a sporting proposition agreed to defer the take-off till noon tomorrow. As a result, federal officials believe, the great race to Hawaii will be an aerial triumph and not a tragedy of "suicides", with planes crashing into the sea because of lack of preparation.

Although Capt. Frederick A. Giles, in Detroit, has not officially withdrawn from the race, he has been automatically eliminated by the qualification requirements, it was said today. Giles cannot reach here to complete his qualification by noon today.

Four of the planes, the "Miss Doran", "Gwair King", "Aloha" and "Dallas Spirit", are without radio equipment. Four have sending and receiving sets, while one, the speedy San Francisco Examiner's "Golden Eagle", has a receiving set only. Progress of the planes over the Pacific will be charted by H. L. Burross, radio co-ordinator of the flight. Burross will keep in constant touch with all vessels in the Hawaiian steamer lanes and will be in close contact with all radio agencies.

stock market opened at 10 o'clock. There was an immediate decline in the price of United States Steel stock.

Wall Street Shocked.

Wall street was shocked profoundly by the news of the death of Gary. For years his every utterance has had a distinct effect upon the market and he was known personally to almost all of the traders in the financial district. The successor of Gary, who for so long wielded such great power, immediately became a question.

One of the names mentioned most frequently was that of Nathan L. Miller, former governor of New York, and at present general counsel to the U. S. Steel corporation. Perry Dupont, head of the Dupont company, was also mentioned as a possible successor to Gary.

Announce Death.

Formal announcement of the steel magnate's death came in the form of a two-line typewritten statement issued from the offices of the United States Steel corporation. It read:

"Judge Elbert H. Gary died at 3:30 a. m. today from chronic myocarditis."

Myocarditis is inflammation of the muscular tissue of the heart.

Rumors of Gary's death became current on Wall street as the market opened. In Judge Gary's home on Fifth avenue information was refused and inquiries were directed to his office. It was some time before news of his death was confirmed.

Stock Market Steady.

At 10:04 a. m. the announcement that he was dead was sent over the stock tickers but the stock market did not break, as many had anticipated on information of such significance. U. S. Steel, which opened at 131½, dropped a point to 130¼, but rallied later to the opening price.

There was no sign of confusion in the market. Some of the leading stocks a point or two but nothing of a precipitate nature occurred.

Gary's death was the principal topic of conversation in the "street". They all knew him—Gary, the man of steel, of firm convictions, of unwavering perseverance, the man who had built up the United States corporations into one of the greatest industrial organizations of all time. It has been said that "next to the presidency of the United States, the chairmanship of the United States Steel corporation is the biggest job in America."

Even since Judge Gary's absence from his office three weeks ago, he had been in almost constant touch with the steel corporation's affairs. He was the type of man who had every angle of his company's affairs at his finger's tips and who knew every detail of the workings of the organization.

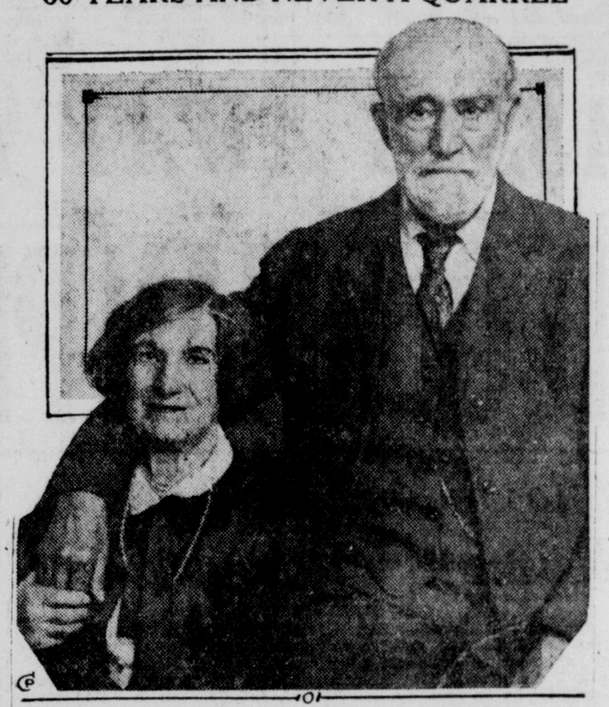

Several days ago, however, he became slightly ill and 48 hours ago his condition took a serious turn. Although his family and friends were concerned about his health because of his age, it had not been understood until today that his condition was alarming. In fact, his illness of the last few days had not become known. At his office this morning no amplification was given of the brief statement announcing his death.

Judge Gary was injured slightly a few months ago when his office chair overturned but did not find it necessary to absent himself from his office.

Gary Funeral.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Funeral services for Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the Gary Memorial church in Wheaton, Ill., it was announced here today.

60 YEARS AND NEVER A QUARREL

Although they've lived together 10 years beyond the golden wedding mark, Mr. and Mrs. John Stellwagen have yet to have their first quarrel. Here they are, snapped at their sixtieth wedding anniversary at Los Angeles, Cal. He is 82; she is 79.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

LITTLE BUSINESS

Don't worry about the growth of big business, combinations, chain ownership, etc. Little business is not being hurt. Figures show that little business is growing as well as big. Prosperity is becoming more widely distributed. The little towns are growing fast. People are moving out of the congested districts of cities, and suburbs are becoming larger. Small business concerns in these suburbs are increasing in size. We are astonished by the hundred million dollar figures of United States Steel and General Motors. But the corner grocery is doing well, too.

WHAT NEXT?

Five thousand acres of Louisiana sugar cane is to be dusted with chemicals that will kill the cane moth borer. Airplanes will scatter the dust. Commercial aviation adds to its range of activity every day. Every city of size in the United States will do well to put the building of an airport far up on its program.

THE BRAIN METHOD

Among the 36,000 school children in New Haven, Connecticut, there has not been a death from diphtheria in two years. This calls attention to the preventive measures which are being used in some American cities. In New York the death rate from that disease has been cut 41 per cent. This is the result of using the brain method in fighting human ailments.

HOW ABOUT MARS?

Astronomers now tell us the climate on Mars is livable. On part of the planet it is said to be 80 degrees in the noonday sun. But there are some things to be cleared up. Scientists aren't sure whether there is any water vapor and oxygen. That's a large matter. Mars hasn't yet made good as a place to live in.

"I WILL NOT KILL"

Los Angeles adopts the slogan, "I will not kill," for motorists. That has more punch than "safety first." Streets are full of children these summer days. Let's try "I will not kill" in our own thinking—if we do any thinking.

weather was pitch dark when Risticz, who was at the controls, swung the plane around and headed back for Bremen about 9:25 o'clock. The pilot skilfully guided the machine toward Bremen and soon the powerful flying field beacons could be made out against the sky. It was a difficult feat to land the plane with its load of 10 tons of gasoline. But Risticz brought it down safely although the bump was so severe that the plane bounced over a ditch and ran into a fence.

First Attempt Fails.

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 15.—Germany's first attempt to conquer the Atlantic with heavier-than-air machines failed completely at 4:24 o'clock German time today when the Junkers trans-Atlantic plane Bremen and its crew of three men returned to its starting point at the flying field here after attempting for 22 hours to fight its way clear of the wind, rain and fog which held all Europe stormbound.

The Bremen flew as far as Ireland ropa, which attempted the flight with the Bremen, was forced to earth last night, 29 hours after the start.

The Bremer flew as far as Ireland before abandoning further attempt to get across the Atlantic.

"We turned back because we struck so much fog and heavy weather that we could see no chance of succeeding in the flight," said Friedrich Loose and Herman Koehl, pilots of the Bremen, after their landing here. "When we were over Dublin bay we could see nothing whatever. We decided to return to the field here at 7 o'clock this morning.

"During our flight we did not get a single radio message," they continued. "In fact, we had no time to take messages.

"We struck heavy fog as soon as we got over the North sea; also strong headwinds. The fog grew constantly worse.

"Over the Irish sea we could see nothing at all. We climbed to 800 metres and succeeded in shaking off the fog for a while, but it caught up to us again."

LIFE IS MORE COMPLEX

IN 1879 there were 252 names in the telephone directory for New York City. The telephone was then in its incipiency. Today the Bell telephone system alone has 15,906,550 telephones in use in the United States. Just another case where yesterday's luxury is today's necessity.

Forty-eight years ago the telephone was even more of a curiosity than a luxury. The wealthy installed it in their homes for much the same reason that they collected curios and antiques. The instrument was not dependable and the system was too small to be of much value. In 1926 there were fifty-five million calls a day on Bell system phones alone. It is difficult to see how society could get along without the telephone today, although the world got along very well without it only a half century ago. The explanation lies in the fact that the telephone constitutes a vital and complex system in a complex society.

It may only be a coincidence that there is one telephone and one automobile for every six people in the United States. And it may also be a coincidence that the history of the motor car paralleled that of the telephone in that the former also began its career as an invention, then became a curiosity and a luxury, and is now a necessity.

Those who have any reasons for concealing their age should never make the grave mistake of calling the telephone and automobile luxuries.

DISCRIMINATION

THOUGH patriotic orators speak of this democratic country as being probably the only one in the world that has broken down class barriers, no one believes them for everyone is suffering from concurrent attacks of superiority and inferiority complexes. Everybody is out of the class of somebody else in the opinion of both. Between the pauper to the multi-millionaire there are as many social strata as there were tongues at the Tower of Babel.

The war exposed the insuperable barriers of rank in the military service to the eyes of the world, but beyond this there was in this country until recently no aristocracy that could be termed official. Congress is blamed for creating a new official aristocracy.

This official aristocracy is comprised of the personnel of the consular and diplomatic service. And they become such when congress granted them a pension far in excess of the maximum for other federal employes.

The maximum retired pay of any worker in the governmental departments at Washington is $1,000, and no one may receive more no matter how important a position he or she may have filled or how long he or she has filled it. But for the foreign service there is no such limitation of retirement pay. After thirty years service those in the higher positions may receive a pension as high as $5,400 a year.

Only the committees which reported the pension bills can explain this disparity and why one class of public servants was favored over all others. But no explanations have been forthcoming from them. This may be due to the fact that the discrimination has just come to public attention.

CONGRESS AND THE FLOOD

THE flood disaster in the Mississippi watershed has awakened the nation to another need for reforestation other than insuring a future timber supply. There would have been no disorder had the slopes and plains of the Mississippi and its major tributaries had enough standing timber to retain more of the heavy rains which caused the flood.

This crushing blow to so large a territory has directed the attention of the nation as nothing else could to the need of providing forests at the headwaters of the Mississippi and its tributaries.

Planting trees where watershed control is needed will cost money, but, unlike other methods of flood control, it will pay double dividends. Flood damage would be minimized and posterity would be assured of an adequate timber supply.

When the next congress takes up the question of flood control, as it is certain to do, control by reforestation should be given serious consideration. Forests of young trees can be produced almost as speedily as huge dams and flood-proof levees. And young trees, closely planted, would aid greatly.

Such states as Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan, which annually plant millions of trees with public funds, are already learning the value of forests in flood control. Last year these three states alone planted a total of 60,000,000 trees, putting idle land to profitable work, lessening the danger of a timber shortage, purifying water supplies, minimizing the flood hazard, improving hunting and fishing, and providing playgrounds for everybody in nature's great out-of-doors.

ROAD'S END

I never go to the end of the road
For my home is half-way down,
And it's there I may slip from my heavy load
And be quit of the noisy town.

For what may lie at the further end
I have no great wish to see
And what may be round the dusty bend
Has little charm for me.
For I face to the east at break of day,
To the west with the setting sun
And half-way down I am glad to stay
When the busy day is done.

Gor nothing beyond my smiling door
Could ever seem quite so fair,
Or worth my traveling one step more
As the welcome that waits me there.

Why Many Cruisers?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Of course, Britain will not make any arrangement that does not suit her about limiting armaments. The conference was a gentlemanly gathering at which Great Britain wrote the program and everybody else was expected to sign it.

Will Rogers says the difference between "Britannia rules the waves" and "Columbia, the gem of the ocean" is that Britannia rules the waves" is a fact, whereas "Columbia, the gem of the ocean" is only just a song.

As it happens the dispute means nothing to the United States, although it means much to the battleship builders anxious to make money out of the people of the United States.

Britain needs fast cruisers, or thinks she needs them to protect her commercial fleets over all the oceans. We haven't such fleets and need few, if any, cruisers.

It is as though one man had ten million sheep, needing many sheep dogs, and another man with a thousand sheep insisted on having as many dogs as the man with ten million.

It's silly. Let Britain have her cruisers, and spend her money on them. We should build only what our commerce actually needs.

In ten years cruisers will be ridiculous and even Great Britain's "experts" will know it. A few high-powered ships, each carrying 20 seaplane bombers, would take care of all commercial ships.

Newspapers here and in Canada used 15 per cent more paper than last year. More trees cut down.

The British plan to use bamboo on a gigantic scale for news print production.

That should be done in the United States. Vast tracts in Florida, California and all along the gulf coast would grow bamboo.

A yearly crop of bamboo with long fibre, grown close to cheap power, would solve one problem.

Praise the Lord, for you really are, as the Bible says, "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Anna Scotto, 12-year-old girl, fell head first into the mud in ten feet of water and remained in that position for five minutes, not breathing, necessarily. She was resuscitated, brought back to life, by use of adrenalin.

In the small adrenal glands near the kidneys men and other warm-blooded animals manufacture a substance that regulates the blood flow, protects life and cures the idiocy of "cretinism".

The wealth of this country, if it could be divided, would make every man, woman and child worth more than $1,000,000. Wealth won't be divided, fortunately—such division would kill ambition and deaden interest in life. Men must travel a long way mentally before they earn freedom from necessity's lash.

The learned Justice Sullivan believes that too much science is taught in schools and universities. Some of it should be omitted and "American citizenship" taught instead.

Unfortunately 'American citizenship" is a little indefinite; there are too many definitions of it, and science is very definite. It has always had to struggle against the theory that it was superfluous, or not necessary.

But science conquers. Those that once put scientists in jail for teaching "a round earth, going around the sun," now teach that theory also.

Mussolini has had to use rough methods sometimes. But one opinion is that without Mussolini there would be no organized Italian government today. It was a choice between Bolshevism and Fascism.

You will notice that the Italian lira is worth 25 per cent more than the French franc. That one fact outweighs much theory.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner and president of the Chicago club of the American Baseball League, today enters upon his 70th year. For many years Mr. Comiskey has been one of the big figures in baseball and one of the best liked men ever identified with the national game. He has risen from bat boy to manager and owner in baseball. It has been his life work. He broke into the game in 1882, at Dubuque; became manager of the St. Louis team in 1884 and won the pennant in 1888. In 1895 he became a club owner, taking over the St. Paul club of the Western League. When that organization grew into the American League, Comiskey transferred his club to Chicago. There he has been ever since. There he has seen his White Sox win five pennants and two world's championships. In addition to furthering the progress of baseball in America he spread the diamond gospel abroad in 1913-14, when he and John McGraw led the two teams on a world tour.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

RAILROADS AND AIR TRAFFIC

At a meeting of railroad superintendents in San Francisco, E. H. Harmon said: "While there has been no definite move by any of the railroad systems as yet to launch a supplementary air service, we are giving study to the subject and must be prepared to take the necessary step, as in the case of motor transportation."

Lindbergh, when he flew direct from New York to Paris, and Chamberlin and Levine, when they flew from New York to Germany, gave an immense impetus to American air traffic.

That traffic must be advanced by government subsidies or by private enterprise.

Mr. Clapp, a financial writer, has called attention to the fact that the railroads of the country, being in the transportation business, are the logical concerns to take up air traffic.

The railroads in many cases are fostering motor bus transportation, and there is no reason why they should not go into air transportation.

It is their business to carry passengers and they have abundant capital.

Air transportation is coming. The principle of the people of the United States is to advance this as much as possible by private initiative, and the railroads are the logical ones to take up this matter.

Mr. Ford has already directed his attention to air transportation, and when once the business has been gotten upon a profitable basis many other capitalists will be glad to engage in it.

Lindbergh always referred to himself and his plane as "we". This means that the machinery is quite as essential a factor in flying as the man.

We must have men of courage and daring, but we must also have machines of dependability.

The railroads are in the machine business. They have already brought the locomotive up to a high degree of efficiency and they are the logical ones to take hold of and improve the airplane until it becomes a commercial essential.

The effort of Congressman Bloom to establish an air bureau, with Lindbergh in charge, is also a step in the right direction.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IMMOVABLE VS. IRRESISTABLE.

It has been said over and over again that no war was ever won, except in the mud. The foot soldier of the world has always won its wars at the point of the bayonet, consequently the statement that the next war is going to be won in the air is considered as very futile by the soldier. Enthusiasm for air craft just now is fine. Every effort ought to be made to perfect the flying machine, both the heavier and the lighter than air craft. This ought to be done not only for the sake of preparedness against a possible war, but for the commercial value which rapid transportation by air possesses.

In all the propaganda spoken, printed, and published by the air craft enthusiasts, very little if anything has been said concerning the means which are being developed to compete aircraft attacks. The people of all nations have always endeavored to perfect an invincible fighting machine. They build a fort which they say is invulnerable; they build a ship which they say is impenetrable. At the same time they have perfected missle throwng machines they claim are irresistible. In other words, the immovable object has always been met with an irresistible power. It is so with aircraft.

I was talking to a soldier and officer in Uncle Sam's Army recently, and he astounded me with his statement of facts regarding anti air craft preparedness in the United States. Uncle Sam's soldiers have always been noted as accurate marksmen. When the Infantry and the Marines got into action in France, not only the Germans but the Frenchmen who were pretty good marksmen themselves, were astonished at the accurate rifle fire of the Americans. The Germans said, "They kill everything they see."

The officer told me of a recent experiment with anti air craft guns. The guns were stationed in a valley, surrounded by high hills. The aeroplane many miles away took to the air, towing a sleeve target a thousand feet high. The plane came into the valley from an unannounced point, 8000 feet in the air. The aeroplane was located by the sound detectors used by those in charge of the guns, so that when it entered the valley the artillerymen knew about the point where it would enter. As soon as the target was sighted the guns went into action. In the three mile flight across the valley at a speed more than one hundred miles per hour, the target was perforated twelve times. The target is only a few feet long, and about three feet wide at its widest point. Some marksmanship!

When it is remembered that this accuracy was with non explosive shells, actually shooting through the sleeve direct at a distance not less at any time than eight thousand feet, the value of the anti air craft guns can be better understood. In addition to this the officer said that there is being shot from anti aircraft guns explosive shells having a carrying range of more than five miles, explosive shells which exploding within a thousand feet of the aeroplane will put the aeroplane out of commission.

Thus it will be seen that the Immovable is still being met by the Irresistible.

THE MORE WE WORRY—

The less straight thinking we are able to do.
The more we undermine our judgment.

The less trouble we make for ourselves.
The less confidence we have in ourselves.
The more helpless we become.
The less we deserve from God.

KELLYGRAMS

By FRED C. KELLY.

Text-Books

I often wonder if current school text-books are as faulty as were those used by the schoolboy I knew best.

Dullness was then by no means the only glaring trouble with text-books. Perhaps even worse was their tendency to divert young minds from the truth.

In American history this boy got the impression that at the time of the Revolution every Englishman was his enemy. Not until long, long afterward, in conversation with H. G. Wells, did he learn that a large pro-American party had flourished in England, and that part of London was illuminated in celebration of the Boston tea party! Surely the histories gave the idea that the only folk who amounted to anything during the Revolution were those of the radical element who resisted organized authority—regardless of the fact that the majority of the so-called nice people, the kind who would figure in society columns, and appear on speakers' platforms must have been the conservatives, the Tories.

Most of the few things he remembers from his early studies of history—the anecdotal part—he now finds were untrue. For example, the imperishable remark of General Stark when he said: "We'll lick them today, boys, or Molly Stark's a widow." Recently the boy chanced to notice in a record of the Stark family tree that the general's wife's name was not Molly but Lizzie!

The story of Captain John Smith and Pocahontas appears to have been an invention of Captain John Smith himself.

Grammar was discussed in the text-book with queer words that one had never before heard of. It might as well have been written in a foreign language. The book dealt entirely with complicated abstractions, though the boy was at a mental age incapable of comprehending anything not simply concrete. He couldn't visualize or become enthusiastic and excited over a predicate when the word itself was an irritating stranger.

If he had been permitted just to read and learn good writing by gradual observation—with instruction in grammatical principles, if at all, only after he was old enough to understand them—the boy might possibly have become a skilled writer.

Since he grew up, this same boy has often asked himself why text-books are used at all except as an important side issue—considering how little of a subject can be compressed between covers even by a genius, compared with all the knowledge that might be gathered from well-directed observation.

Presumably one excuse for so much stress on the text-book was to conform to the misconception of the numerically important mass of folk whose vague idea of intelligence made it somehow synonymous with "book l'arnin'."

Stockholders To Meet On Tuesday

Meeting Of Stockholders Of "The Castleton" At City Building

HOTEL PLANS WILL BE ACTED UPON

A meeting of the stockholders of the New Castle Hotel company, which will operate The Castleton, has been called for Tuesday evening, August 16, at 8 o'clock daylight saving time in the council chamber.

This meeting has for its purpose the authorizing of the board of directors to finish the contemplated financing of the building, by the issuance of bonds to cover a mortgage of not to exceed $275,000, to take care of the difference between the final cost of the building and the amount of stock sold to the stockholders.

It was originally intended to place a larger mortgage than this on the property, but the sale of stock exceeded the expectations, so that this amount only, becomes necessary to complete the financing.

In order that no legal obstacle may be in the way, or legal question be raised, it is necessary in all meetings of this nature that more than 50 per cent of the stock holdings be represented and for this reason the directors have asked that all stockholders not able to be present, forward their proxies to the treasurer at once.

It is quite a task to gather these in as over 2400 shares are required to be represented, either in person or by proxy.

It is interesting to note that to secure a majority vote of the stockholders, over 50 of the largest stockholders would be required to vote in unison. This shows the community aspect of the project.

The formal opening of the hotel is scheduled for the first week of October, and competent judges pronounce it an exceptionally good job of hotel building and an institution of which the city of New Castle and the stockholders in particular may well be proud.

Doughboys Must Learn 300 Words Chinese Tongue

(Special To The News)

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 15.—American doughboys garrisoned with the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry here must enlarge their vocabulary beyond the present meagre assortment of grunts, nods, and finger exercise.

So, in effect, did Colonel Isaac Newell, their regimental commander, declare in issuing orders today which require each soldier to learn a minimum of three hundred Chinese words before being classed as a fully trained member of the regiment.

This, the order explained, would not only enable the soldier to make himself better understood to local merchants, thus reducing the possibility of altercation, but also would increase the soldier's value to his regiment if called into the field.

FARMER REPORTS WHITE SWALLOW

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Stories of albino deer and white blackbirds are becoming rather common, but it remains for LeRoy Mallery to tell of a white barn swallow which he and members of his family have seen several times at their home on the Hartstown road, about five miles from Cochranton.

Sen on the wing, as low as five feet from the ground, no black spots were discernible.

He is anxious to find its nesting place to get close enough to see whether or not it is a true albino, with pink eyes. The bird flies with a flock of other barn swallows, which evidently take it much as a matter of course.

URGES CREDIT BUYING COURSE IN SCHOOLS

That a course in credit buying be introduced into the public schools of America was advocated at the 15th annual convention of the Retail Credit Men's National Association, held at Providence, R. I., last week. A. B. Sanders, assistant secretary of the association, made the speech in which the statement was made.

Ray F. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange, is of the opinion that such a course would add greatly to the curriculum of the public schools, especially in this, the time of credit buying.

Mr. Sanders told the convention that the wholesale and retail credit men of the country think that a course of five or six lectures on credit buying should be introduced into every school.

"Nearly every home in New Castle is concerned in installment and credit buying" said Mr. Hall. "The public should be better educated in a correct understanding of credit problems.

"A course of lectures, I think, would be the best method of starting this credit education in the schools."

The tourists left State College this morning in motor coaches from Warren, expecting to inspect fields and have meetings on the way. It is probable that they will spend tonight in Warren. Tomorrow they will leave that section of the state, bound for New Castle, although stops at important potato fields will be made along the way. They are expected at the potato farm in the late afternoon Tuesday.

Would Be Mistake To Open Park Avenue

This Is What Solicitor White Tells City Council

Solicitor Robert White today during council session told members of council that to open Park avenue between Wilmington avenue and North Jefferson street would not only cost several thousand dollars but is inadvisable.

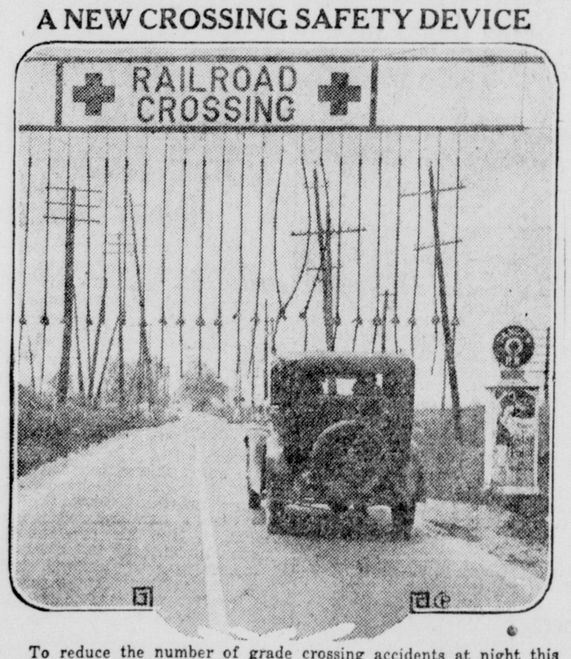

His remarks followed those of Capt. A. Martin Graham, counsel for a lot owner whose land is lying unoccupied, pending a decision by council which promised some time ago to have a view made and the costs and damages assessed. This has not been done.

White declared that instead of using several thousand dollars on the Park avenue project the money could be spent in opening Logan through to Highland.

Council promised to give the ordinance consideration and deside whether or not to open Park avenue during the next few days.

The man after a woman's heart may not want it.

Three More Guests For County Sheriff

Three more guests were added to Sheriff Reynold's roster over the week end, one of whom was excused on bail. Constables Thompson and Miller arrested Jim Williams of South New Castle Boro on a charge of violation of the Snyder Act. Held in $1,500 bail.

The same constables arrested Pasquale Ampile of East Home street on a similar charge, but he was released when he provided bail. Constable Peters of Ellwood City arrested Frank Stanko on a charge of breaking and entering. He is held in $1,000 bail.

Today the following candidates announced: For country commissioner, Floyd L. Cotton; for city council, New Castle, Stanley Treser; for school director, South New Castle Boro, D. F. Gilmore; for constable, Fourth Ward, Ellwood City, H. O. Smiley.

It has come to my attention that my candidacy for county commissioner is being confused with that of another citizen of New Castle of the same name.

I reside at 801 Young street, and formerly resided near Volant, coming to New Castle, three years ago. My entire life up to the time I came to New Castle was spent in the vicinity of Volant.

Making this statement solely with a desire to clarify the situation, I am,

Yours respectfully,

Girl Hoboes Are Numerous

(International News Service)

BEAVER, Aug. 15.—Hiking has become such a fad among the female sex that there are now hundreds of hikers, from every State in the Union. Girls who haven't enough money to satisfy their desire for travel in the regular way put on overalls or soldiers khaki and start walking.

Miss Mildred Zubali, 20, of Beaver, is the champion girl hiker of Western Pennsylvania, having covered nearly 10,000 miles in seven months. She started from her home last October and returned in April after visiting Los Angeles, San Francisco, Miami and many other cities.

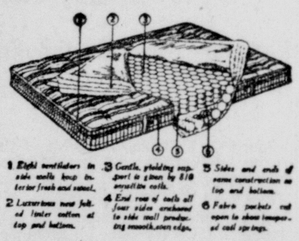

Miss Zubali traveled alone until she met Hester Stout, another "hobo," in a freight car. Together, dressed in soldier suits, they had many exciting adventures and met many girl hoboes—"hundreds of them," she said.

This Beaver girl met a new kind of hobo—a pair of 'em, in fact. Dressed in overalls, a dog following them and carrying 50 small bundles the two newlyweds were seeing the country on foot that they were not able to view otherwise for the lack of funds. This unique honeymoon was to last four months after which they were to settle down.

Miss Zubali is resting now but says she will soon start again for the wide open spaces.

Some Local Comment, Ideas And Suggestions As Given To News Man

By ALFRED SWIFT

J. LEE CALAHAN
SCOUT EXECUTIVE

In the near future we are contemplating making a history of the boy scout movement in New Castle from the time of its inception until the present. This will show the general public and the man in the street that the whole movement of scouting has been very worth while.

The report will show that the money invested has been well spent, in that many boys have been saved from Morganza through their affiliation with the scouts.

It is much cheaper to invest a few dollars in the community chest than to pay out good money to keep up institutions such as Morganza. Last year it cost every taxpayer $80 for crime alone. If some of this could be spent in getting at the cause rather than in clearing up the case after it has matured, everything would be much better and the taxes would, in time, be reduced.

I have often wondered why the bus lines which run into town do not concentrate upon one certain point, where a station or a waiting room should be installed. At present, there is only one waiting room, and that belongs to the P-O, and even that is far from adequate.

Many of the passengers are compelled to use the hotel lobby as a waiting room and the hotel desk as an information bureau.

As the lines are not in competition with other, there should be no trouble to get this concentration point, where a waiting room should be installed, and an information clerk kept in constant attendance.

GEORGE W. MUSE
EX-DISTRICT ATTORNEY

I have noticed that in the past, two or three presidents have made expressions which have caused much discussion throughout the country. In referring to the state of business during his administration, Grover Cleveland said that the state of business was in "innocuous desuitude."

Again, President Wilson, when referring to the financial depression during his administration, referred to it as "purely psychological."

These expressions and choice of words caused much discussion thruout the country, the newspapers making much comment on them.

When President Coolidge said, "I do not choose to run . . .", the word "choose" was variously interpreted and caused much discussion and comment.

I reckon that if President Coolidge chooses not to run in 1928, his choice will undoubtedly prevail.

The weather and the high cost of living are two main topics of conversation these days. But does anybody do anything about either one? I don't know how to regulate the weather, but if everyone would pay promptly, the high cost of living would go down, and our spirits go up and make the weather look better, anyway.

Lion's Club Will Meet At Y. M. C. A.

For the next few weeks the weekly luncheon of the New Castle Lions club will be held each Tuesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. This is made necessary by the renovating and re-decorating of the dining room at the Elks home. A committee of H. Homer Matthews, W. E. Gordon and C. J. Streib was named to look after the luncheons at the Y. M. C. A.

August 15, 1927

Dear Brother Lion:

While the Elks Home dining room is being renovated we are to meet at the Y. M. C. A. So be at the Y on Tuesday for the regular meeting. A committee is looking after the menu.

For entertainment we are to have the Rubetown Quartet. The name sounds good and we are told it is good.

Young Millionaire In Seattle Flight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The spread of the popularity of Fly-With Roger Wolf Kahn waiting for his specially-built Bellanca, has reached out to include Reginald Langhorne Brooks, a social register pilot, it was learned today. He will be another millionaire pilot in the New York to Seattle air derby.

Brooks is a nephew of Lady Astor, a member of the Harvard Club, the Tennis and Racquet Club and the Knickerbocker Club. He has just purchased a Waco biplane and powered it with a Wright J-5 Whirlwind motor, the same type of power plant that carried Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to Paris.

To the boys at Curtiss Field, the young blue blood is known as "Bellanca Pete." He was one of the mechanics who groomed the famous Columbia for its flight to Germany. He had had nearly a hundred hours in the air, solo, and brought his own ship back from Wichita, Kan., landing through the fog, in a remarkable display of pluck and luck.

1,000,000 Autos Annual Export Goal Of Makers

American Manufacturers Expect Next Two Years To Bring Boom.

Europe's Market For U. S. Cars Expanding Rapidly Figures Show.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Within the next two years American motor car manufacturers expect to export 1,000,000 automobiles, busses and motor trucks annually in the opinion of Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce who has just completed a survey of motor car markets in Europe.

The European market for American motor cars is expanding rapidly, Mr. Reeves says, largely the result of the changed attitude toward automobiles which formerly were regarded as luxuries but are now gaining recognizance as an economic necessity in many countries.

"Now fully convinced that motor cars are no longer luxuries but time saving necessities, the European countries are making rapid progress in the building of highways, readjusting taxes and establishing of more motor truck and bus routes," Mr. Reeves says.

"In company with Roy D. Chapin, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce; J. W. Willys, chairman of the Chamber's Foreign Trade committee; Windsor T. White, vice president of the Chamber's truck division and A. R. Erskine we had most interesting conferences while in Europe with the manufacturers abroad.

To Broaden Market.

All believing that the most important thing is to broaden markets so that each country receives the share of business to which the merit of its product and the efficiency of its selling methods deserve.

"Our centralized effort, associated with British, German, French, Italian, Austrian and Belgian makers will be to expand the markets in those countries that have been slow to adopt motors, sometimes because of poor highways, often excessive taxation and not infrequently because motors have been considered luxuries."

The book agent was singing the praise of a new dictionary to Samuel. "It's the very latest edition", he said. "It costs next to nothing, 10 shillings a month on installments. A new volume comes out every six months. If you pay a deposit you will get the first volume at once, and the others as soon as they are published."

"Yes", snapped Samuel, "and supposing I want to know today what 'Zany' means, must I wait six years?"
—Fleigende Blaetter, Munich.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

'Twould be a great idea for the New Castle Chamber of Commerce if they could conduct a tour out of New Castle for those who do not get out of the city often. Comparison of New Castle with other communities of like size is one that doesn't reflect unfavorably on New Castle in the least. Returning tourists will strongly emphasize this statement.

While Lawrence county came out far ahead of Erie county in the contest for the tallest sunflowers, Erie county took the laurels in the contest for producing early roasting ears. They have been on the market in that district, home grown for several weeks.

New Castle's traffic problem at the present time is how to get the traffic off the main downtown streets. In some other cities of the state they are complaining because the dense auto traffic that flows on main state highways does not have to go through the heart of these cities and are trying to figure out some method by which to have it diverted so that it will go through the business section.

Horses are losing out more and more on the farms. Oats are being cut on many farms with the use of tractors to haul the mowing machines and binders. Hay was cut and put up the same way, as was wheat ,and much of the plowing is also done by use of tractors.

President Pyle and Secretary Chilton are going ahead with the Chamber of Commerce's idea of telling the world what New Castle is. Roads leading into the city are now emblazoned with large signs giving some pertinent facts about the city so that the thousands of strangers going through this section at the present time will know something of New Castle.

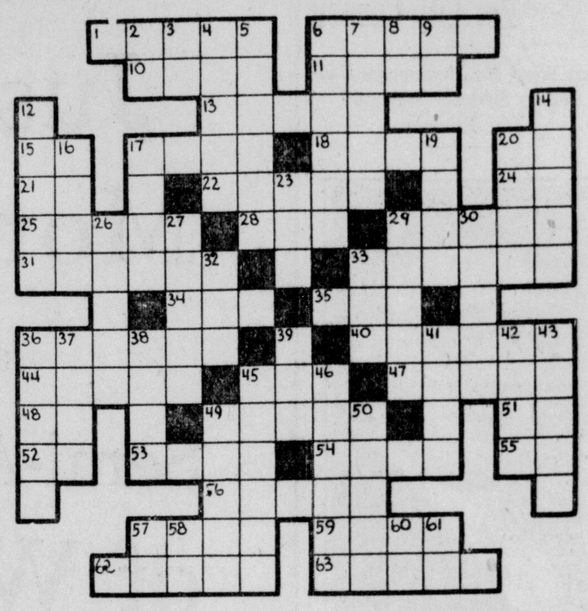

While the matter of aviation, flying fields, etc., is being given so much attention, why not give consideration to the idea of erecting an airplane beacon on top of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. We have always had an idea that the top of this cathedral, the highest point in miles around, should have some kind of a light atop its pinnacle as a matter of giving an added advertisement to the fine building and a vivid reminder to strangers traveling through the city.

About the next North Hill street that will be in line for improvement in the way of paving will probably be Euclid avenue. This will be the main thoroughfare leading to the new North Hill Junior high school. It will be recalled that when the Benjamin Franklin nigh school was erected that paving of the streets leading to it folowed soon after as a matter of necessity. It is likely that Euclid avenue will have to be paved within a year or so.

"Molly", said someone to the little daughter of a clergyman, "does your father preach the same sermon twice?"

"I think perhaps he does", returned Molly, cautiously; "but he talks loud and soft in different places the second time, so that it doesn't sound the same."—Northern Daily Telegraph.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

A TRUE RAIN PROPHET

Tree Toad looked at Hop Toad and Hop Toad looked at him. Then both the cousins shook their heads and both spoke at once, answering Peter's question.

"No, sir, he can't!" declared Hop Toad.

"No, sir, I can't!" agreed Tree Toad and added, thoughfully:

"You are not the first to ask me how I change my colors, two-legs, and I have never been able to tell the secret. Whether you believe me or not I myself don't know how I do it. All I am sure of is that when I am sporting on the tree trunk I must take its brown and black shadings or some cruel creature may come along and harm me. When I drop down upon the moss my coat grows gray—for safety's sake of course, and so it goes. A moment ago when I was playing tricks upon you you thought I moved too quickly for your eyes to follow me. I really don't though. I look so much like the thing upon which I stand that I can just fade away' without any but the sharpest eyes noticing when I go."

"Cousin bears a charmed life," remarked Hop Toad solemnly, and the little hopper gayly agreed.

"I live long and am happy!" cried he, "and that is all that any creature can ask for. But it is all because I know how to take such good care of myself."

"IT IS GOING TO RAIN! THE CLOUDS GATHER! THE BIRDS ARE FLYING HOME!"

Tree Toad was so pleased with himself that he hopped up and down and around on the trunk so quickly that Peter began to fear that he would forget his promise and vanish from sight again. He rapped upon the bark to attract the fellow's attention.

"You haven't told me your message yet, Tree Toad," said Peter. "What were you telling Hop Toad awhile ago?"

'L-l-l-rp! It is going to rain! The air is damp! The clouds gather! The leaves curl up! The blossoms are closing their cups! The birds are flying near home! The breeze is blowing ripples on the pond! Everything is growing very still, waiting and listening for the drops to fall! It is going to rain, it is going to rain, it is going to rain!"

"Over and over again did Tree Toad pipe this shrill refrain and Hop Toad joined in the chorus. Peter looked about him. As far as he could see all was serene.

"Well, if you say it is going to rain I suppose I must take your word for it, Tree Toad!" at last admitted he. "But when is this expected downpour coming?

"Soon—this very afternoon—maybe not later than the hour when the dandelions go to sleep!" replied Tree Toad. Then suddenly the piper's little throat began to swell and it grew so large that the boy thought it would burst.

"You had better believe I know what I am taking about, boy," said the piper. "The Tree Toads have not been rain prophets all their lives since the world began for nothing. Ask any of the outdoor folk if ever one of them foretold falsely. No, siree! When I tell you it is going to rain, it is going to rain. Like it or not, you may as well make up your mind to that fact and pick your shelter."

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 15.—Fifty motormen and conductors employed by the Scranton Railway Company are to be dropped from the service, because of the advent of one man street cars here.

OIL PIONEER DEAD

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 15.—Thomas K. King, 84, who died recently in Muskogee, Okla., and was buried in his native village, Saxonburg, Butler county, was one of the outstanding pioneers in the oil industry, assisting in the drilling of the famous Drake well in Venango county in 1859. He was a grandson of Thomas Kier of Creighton, Pa., who made a living by extracting salt from wells, and who also secured a medicinal product by the crude refining of petroleum yielded in small quantities by the salt wells. This was some years before petroleum was recognized as an important illuminant and basis of hundreds of by-products. Mr. King followed the oil business for more than fifty years.

ROOSTER MUST DIE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 15. — A mad Leghorn rooster with teeth has been sentenced to death by Victor Jones, his owner. Because he had seriously injured 18-months old Barbara Kroll by biting her.

This rooster has aroused some discussion among a few naturalists here as it is commonly known that fowls have no teeth.

A. J. Kroll, father of the child, reported to police that while his daughter was playing in the front yard of her home she was "bitten on the head and under the right eye by a made White Leghorn rooster."

E. J. Holohan, state chaplain, of Hecksherville, Pa., as celebrant.

The principal address at the banquet Thursday night will be given by Judge Martin L. Sweeney, of Cleveland, recently elected national president of the order. The toastmaster will be John F. Buckley, Lackawanna county president, who has been endorsed by the Lackawanna and Luzerne delegations for state president.

FARMER IS PEDDLER

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 15. — A farmer is a peddler, and as such may not sell his wares in front of the courthouse here at times other than those allotted to peddlers, the borough council has decided.

The council heard complaints that a lone farmer, paying the regular assessment of 25 cents each evening, conducted his market in front of the courthouse, much to the annoyance of merchants who pay high rentals for the same privilege.

PROSPERITY TO RETURN

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 15.—Prosperity will return to the antracite regions when large consumers of coal in the district learn the wisdom of loading their bins during the warm weather, according to the coal distribution committee of Shamokin.

The committee, composed of representatives of the borough council, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, plans a campaign to stimulate the buying of anthracite during the summer months.

If residents of the communities in the district will buy coal now it will add at least one day a week to the working time of the miners, the committee points out.

The campaign will be carried throughout the hard coal regions.

Air Mail Service Extension Planned In Pennsylvania Will Include New Castle

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Eighty-four cities including Erie, Johnstown, New Castle, Stroudsburg, and York, are to be served by air mail in 1927, not to mention the trading areas represented by these cities, the Aeronautics Division of the Department of Commerce announce today. The investment in the lines represented $5,000,000 in 1926. New routes and additional equipment being purchased for 1927 indicates an increase in these figures for the current year, it was said.

Aerial navigation as a commercial vehicle, the division says, is expending on an astounding scale. Aerial photography, passenger carrying, taxi-service, news reel and photo transportation, crop dusting, are a few of its more common business uses. Nearly 19,000,000 airplane miles were flown last year on pleasure rides, special business trips or in the conduct of miscellaneous air service enterprises.

Over 48,000,000 Miles

Total airplane mileage for 1926 reached 48,586,492 miles, of which 23,452,582, miles is attributed to civil craft.

An air transport net of 8,324 miles was carrying passengers and air mail at the close of 1926, while contracts were ready for the inauguration of 1,201 additional miles in 1927. During the Sesquicentennial exposition 234 miles were operated between Philadelphia, Washington and Norfolk. The first of America's aerial common carriers (the Detroit-Chicago and Detroit-Cleveland lines of the Ford Motor Co.) began operating on February 15, 1926; today, it was said, 19 airways are in operation or contracted for in the carriage of mail, in addition to one or more noncontract lines and many others proposed. Furthermore, the government has gone out of air mail transportation by letting the transcontinental out to private enterprise.

In 1926, it was explained, Daniel Gugenheim gave $500,000 to New York University for the general promotion of civil aeronautics, with $2,000,000 to be added during the ensuing 10 years, he has also offered a large prize for a safety competition. Such stimuli as this the division says, together with Commander Byrd's tour about the Pole from Spitzbergen, the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar flight in the Norge from Nome to Alaska. Colonel Lindbergh's flight, the American Hawaiian flights by Smith and the Army pilots and De Pinedo's globe-encircling voyage are all sharing in demonstrating the reliability of aircraft in the most adverse conditions prevailing in a rapidly diminishing world.

The most immediate and necessary adjunct of the expansion of civil aeronautics, the division states, is the presence in every large city of an adequate and well-equipped airport. The airport is held to be essentially a municipal enterprise as the department is charged only with encouraging their establishment.

More than $17,500,000 has been or is being invested in ground and improvements on the 68 airports along the airways—and scores of cities on and off the established lanes are rapidly preparing for future air traffic. Close to one thousand partly or wholly equipped airports is the outlook for the current year.

Rocks Candidate For City Council

First Ward Man Announces Candidacy Subject To Republican Primaries

JAMES L. ROCKS

James L. Rocks, 105½ North Mercer street, has announced as a candidate for city council, subject to the Republican primaries, September 20, 1927.

Mr. Rocks offers for the consideration of the electorate the following declaration of principles and general ideas relating to the duties of a member of city council:

"In a purely economic sense, the great problem in city government is providing means for the maintenance and extension of all necessary public works and activities. A municipal establishment such as the city of New Castle, is in law and in fact, a corporate body having definite social and political aims and vested with a public character not inherent in the constitution of corporate enterprises organized for profit. While in a limited sense it may be said to resemble a private business venture, there are major points at which the analogy breaks down. For example, in the private business corporation, expenditures are regulated by income; whereas, in the municipal corporation, income (revenue derived from taxes) is regulated by expenditure. Another important distinction is that the term "income" when used in connection with the operations of an ordinary business enterprise means the gain or recurrent benefit which proceeds from labor, business or property; when used in connection with municipal operations or public finance, it is a purely relative term and has reference to a compulsory contribution derived from the personal income of private citizens and used for public purposes.

The power "to lay and collect taxes" is one which if rightly exercised and wisely administered inures to the general benefit of society and the happiness and prosperity of all the people; wrongly exercised or unwisely administered, it may inure to the selfish and particular advantage of certain individuals or small and influential groups, by imposing an undue proportion of the collective burden upon the more or less inarticulate majority. The basic principle of all just taxation is that the tax burden must be distributed in accordance with the ability of the individual to pay; the general property tax is assessed upon the basis of the value of the property itself.

The selection of assessors to fix the valuation of property is all important in the preservation of a just and equitable distribution of the tax burden. To my mind, two main questions are raised in the consideration of the problems of public finance. First, How can we be sure that the public funds are being honestly and prudently expended? Second, How shall we provide for a fair and impartial apportionment of the general property tax that will produce a greater equality of assessment in accord with the community opinion?

In my judgment there is but one answer to both questions. Choose for your representatives in council men of unimpeachable integrity and intellectual honesty coupled with a measurable degree of intelligence and practical business experience. All the best that can be found in the entire gamut of desirable qualifications could be condensed in the simple statement that every candidate for office should be honest not merely in financial or business transactions, but resolute and courageous in facing the findings of his own intelligence. One of the greatest evils of the present system of valuation is that the local assessor in some instances is forced to recognize the political element in making his assessments, to take into consideration the demands for favors from personal friends and political associates. This is not intended as an attack upon particular individuals but is cited as a factor of large significance in the selection of men to fill an office which in the opinion of so eminent an authority as Prof. T. S. Adams, "measured in dollars and cents is far and away the most important part of our fiscal system."

If we are really sincere in our approach to these questions, we should meet the issues squarely, taking cognizance of the fact that compared with the general property tax, corporation taxes, inheritance taxes and all other taxes put together pale into insignificance. In the language of Professor Adams, "Whether we keep or discard the taxation of personal property, the local assessor will, for many generations, continue to play the principal role in the work of public finance, and upon his probity and efficiency will depend the real success or failure of our system." I do not believe that there is any person of ordinary honesty and a knowledge of conditions that would undertake to deny the proposition that one of the chief factors in discouraging prospective home owners from acquiring property is the high tax rate in the city of New Castle. Conversely, we find in the tax situation one of the principal obstacles in the way of an expansion program such as is projected by the Chamber of Commerce.

It is often said that this or that candidate for office will be impotent to reform the abuses current in the tax system or powerless to effect a change for the better in other civic conditions known to be bad. Such arguments ignore the influence of an aroused public opinion. Personally, I cannot feel that this is the proper attitude toward matters of such grave import to the general well-being and happiness of the whole people. I believe that the common sense and common decency of all the people is vastly more important than the biased views or moral indifference of certain selfish individuals or groups that find the existing arrangement to their financial or political profit.

What you personally think on these questions is of paramount importance in the fight for good government and a rule of the majority. No man can afford to slight the obligations of citizenship or ignore the implications of dynamic force in a well founded public opinion and an active public conscience. As a candidate for city council, I ask your support and influence on the basis of the general propositions laid down in this statement of my views. I make you this pledge: If elected, I shall use the authority you delegate to me to bring about a revision of assessments that will more nearly reflect the true economic value of the properties to be appraised. If elected, I shall do all in my power to promote a rule of the people in accordance with the general tenets of the American political creed as expressed and implied in the federal constitution. If I am not elected, I shall continue to cooperate with all good citizens in their efforts to preserve in city, state and national governments, a rule of the people."

Some Idea Of Qualifications Needed By Lawrence County Youths Who Would Be Fliers

New Castle and Lawrence county young men who have been aroused to the desire to learn to fly by the recent spurt that has been taken by aviation and by the announcement that a flying field is to be established near this city, where they may learn to fly, will read with interest the following Washington statement on the qualifications of prospective fliers.

"Flying requires many qualifications and its demand upon skill, knowledge and physical stamina are numerous, so that the young man who intends to go into aviation must be well equipped along many lines.

"As an evidence of the physical soundness alone necessary, it might be pointed out at the beginning that Dr. L. H. Bauer, chief of the medical section of the aeronautics division in the Commerce Department, estimated that only 60 per cent of the young men in the country could pass the physical examination for transport pilot, the highest type of license in commercial aviation. Army and navy requirements are still higher.

"There are no educational requirements for commercial pilots, but the young man who aspires to be a transport pilot for one of the large corporations or on his own hook must be informed in the fundamentals of meteorology and air navigation as well as about the mechanics of his plane and engine. Entrance to the army flying school, on the other hand, requires two years of college or the equivalent, and the navy's summer flying schools are limited to college students who are in naval reserve units.

"Unless he was trained in an army or navy flying school, the young man who wants to go into commercial aviation has a good deal before him. After he learns to fly at one of the privately operated schools in the country, of which there are 164, he must do considerable more flying and may have to instruct himself further in other branches of aviation science before he can present himself for examination for a license.

"The applicant for a transport license must have had 200 hours of "solo" flying, or flying by himself, while 50 hours is required for a limited commercial or an industrial license. The average of solo flying given by the schools is from one to six hours.

"A transport pilot is one who is licensed to carry persons or freight for hire. An industrial pilot may carry freight, but not passengers. A limited commercial pilot may transport passengers and freight within certain designated areas, which are outlined in their licenses. There are also private licenses which permit the pilot to carry neither passengers nor freight for hire. These are for students and "pleasure" flying, and applications for them probably will increase as aviation develops to the point where the family will have its own airplane.

"Since the prospective commercial flier must have considerably more flying than is given by the schools, it has been suggested that he get a position at an aviation field as a mechanic and take part of his pay in the use of an airplane, or if this is not possible, that he purchase a second-hand plane, which he can get for $500 or $600. He may get a private license to permit this flying of his own. An applicant for a pilot's license must be of good character, and must be 16 years old to get a private pilot's license and 18 years old for industrial, limited commercial or transport pilot."

The legion will be host at the famous Hotel Continental on the evening of Sept. 20. Speakers will be Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, Raymond Poincare, French premier; General John J. Pershing, Marshal Ferdinand Foch, Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war; Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Marshals Joseph J. C. Joffre and Henri Phillippe Petain, Commander Savage and President Doumergue. Milton J. Foreman of Chicago, a past national commander of the legion, will be toastmaster.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of St. Joseph, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their housework easily, happy homes are the result.

Miss Schmauk and the little girl went into the house without the knowledge of workmen razing the structure, and a huge beam was loosened, plunging into the clellar and striking the girl.

Motorists Must Now Beware

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 15.—Grove City motorists are being held strictly to the new motor traffic regulations, passed by the local Borough Council at their last meeting, by Burgess Clark. Police Officers Charles Ray and Ellis Klink have been busy during the last few days tagging cars which have been carelessly parked in violation of the new code. Burgess Clark is treating the first week's violators very leniently, but he is of the opinion that by now local motorists should know the parking restrictions and other changes in traffic regulations, and should be held strictly to their enforcement.

The ordinance, passed by the Council provides for the regulation of motor vehicle traffice on the highways of the borough and places a penalty for violations of not less than $1.00 nor more than $16.00 for the first offense, and not less than $10.00 nor more than $25.00 for each subsequent offense. Failure to pay these fines within forty-eight hours, calls for an imprisonment in the borough or county jail of not more than ten days.

Grove City's motor traffic along the business section on Broad street has increased so much in the last few years that the old regulations were very inadequate and the Borough Council passed the new ordinance at it's meeting last Friday.

Motor Club In Favor Of Less Jay-Walking Here

Also Plan To Ask Co-operation Of Police Department Regarding Parking Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 15.—Officials of the Ellwood City Motor club are planning a strong protest against Jay-walking on the streets of Ellwood City, especially on Saturday nights, and ask the co-operation of their members in this project.

In some cities there is a fine by the police department for such actions. When the traffic signals were erected, they were meant for pedestrians as well as motorists and should be observed. In case of an accident happening to a pedestrian who is jaywalking, he stands little chance of damages if the motorist was observing the speed laws at the time of the accident.

At the suggestion of several members of the Motor club the officials plan to ask the co-operation of the police department regarding parking on Lawrence avenue on Saturday nights. The club feels that if twenty minutes parking were permitted on Lawrence avenue between the hours of 9 and ten in the evening, it would enable many motorists who have to make small purchases on the avenue, do so without having to park on some remote side street, or resort to "Double Parking" which is against the city ordinances. Any people attending the theaters for two hours or more could park on the side streets, and not congest the parking spaces on Lawrence avenue.

JOHNSTON DESERTS DAVIS TENNIS CUP RANKS

Veteran Fails To Enter List

So Far As Is Known, Veteran Coast Player Will Not Try For Davis Cup Team

TILDEN'S NAME IS ALSO MISSING

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Unless somebody changes his plans more rapidly than a woman can change her mind, Davis Cup tennis has seen the last of William Johnston, the only bantam in the world who once was supreme at all weights. Johnston's name has turned up absent, without official comment, in the list of players who will begin play this afternoon for places on the defending international team.

William T. Tilden's name is not found in the list either, but naturally it will be found on the official team or there will be none. William doesn't try, it seems; he succeeds or, at least the United States Lawn Tennis Association is committed to the theory that he does and will.

The candidates, to whom, the tennis association hastens to add, there may be additions over the week-end, are as follows:

Francis T. Hunter, New York, Olympic and Wimbledon doubles champion; Lewis N. White, young Texan; George M. Lott Jr., Chicago; John Doeg, very young Californian and scion of tennis royalty, and John Hennessey, Indianapolis.

One of the possible week-end additions could be Johnston. But, so far as anyone knows, he isn't starting East from California, and apparently he won't. The official line-ups for East-West series on Friday and Saturday clearly indicate that. Scheduled for their meeting only three weeks before the international challenge round, the teams will assemble the following men:

Great Team Fades

East: Tilden, John Van Ryn, Princeton; Jack Shields, New York; Dr. George King, New York; R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia; Hunter, Manuel Alonzo, the Spaniard; Arnold Jones, Providence, and Karl Behr, New York.

West: Doeg, Clarence Griffin, Cranston Holman, Lott, White, Louis Thalheimer, another Texan; Hennessey and Berkeley Bell.

So it would seem that the great Tilden-Johnston team is no more. It had made its contribution to American supremacy and to the world of lawn tennis; it had dominated the field and the game for upward of nine years and it will go down to immortality with the Dohertys and Wilding and Brookes as everything that was great in lawn tennis. But it was only a question of time until it had to face the facts of human existence and give way before youth, and that time, seemingly, is now.

Tilden admittedly is slipping. Johnston a whippet in a field demanding mastiffs, is not so durable nor has he the time for intensive preparation. He definitely has slipped.

But before he did it he won the national championship in 1915 and 1919, beat Maurice McLaughlin when the latter still was good and everlastingly badgered Tilden, even at a time when William was conceded to stand without a peer. As the writer saw it, the concession was largely influenced by the fact that when Tilden couldn't out-stroke Johnston, which was somewhat more than seldom, he usually could outlast him.

Big Trade Leaves Managers Satisfied

Since Joining Giants Benton Has Won 12 Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—When Manager "Master Mind" McGraw swapped Kent Greenfield, Hughie McQuillan and Dr. Eddie Farrell to the Braves in exchange for Larry Benton and Jim Taylor, he obtained for the Giants the outstanding National League pitcher of the year.

Benton has been hurling his head off for New York and his victory over the Phillies Sunday was his twelfth of the season. He had been beaten three times.

Kent Greenfield, however, went out Sunday and also pitched a four-hit game, shutting out the Robins, 4 to 0.

This was one of the big baseball trades which left both clubs satisfied instead of sore.

Billy after trying unsuccessfully to open the pantry—"It's no use, Tommy. Not one of the keys will fit."

Tommy (resignedly)—"All right, then. We'll wait till mother comes home and ask for something for being good boys."—Richmond Herald.

After the fourth session there was little speculation as to which team would win, as Emery was pitching good ball and Croton was finding Grinnen, and Wampum made errors at critical times.

A Future Champion — By Feg Murray

A new tennis Lochinvar has come out of the west, a player comparable with the McLoughlin of 1909 and the Murray of 1914. A bronzed young giant from Santa Monica with as sizzling a service as ever tore the racket out of his opponents hand has flashed across the eastern courts this summer like the fiery "Comet" did 19 years ago and like the "Meteor" who followed McLoughlin east by five years, he plays lefthanded which is nearly as much advantage to a tennis player as it is to a batter in baseball.

John Doeg national junior champion tries out today at Forest Hills for a position on the Davis Cup squad. He has shown by his winning of the Rhode Island state championship and the Longwood Bowl and by his play in the Metropolitan turf tournament in which he defeated Watson Washburn and Dr. George King that he is the most promising of the younger generation of tennis stars.

And why shouldn't he be? Not only his mother, Violet Sutton Doeg, adept in tennis and golf but his aunts May Sutton Bundy and Florence Sutton were famous tennis players before he was born. May won the championship of the United States in 1904 and the Wimbledon title in 1905 and 1907 while Florence won the United States all-comers tournament in 1911.

Doeg's service his chief asset on the courts is called the fastest delivery in the game today and reminds one of Ray Casey's another California portsider who played at Wimbledon two years ago. Johnny's volleying game is also a treat to watch and his ground strokes are rapidly improving. In winning the historic Longwood Bowl he aced his final opponent, Cranston Holman, no less than 30 times on the service!

Feg Murray Says.

No, Esmeralda, those metal rabbits that are used in greyhound and whippet racing are not related to the tinned "monkey meat" the A. E. F. ate during the war.

Michigan's Big Ten Record Shows 71.43 Per Cent Wins

(International News Service)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 15.—Michigan, an acknowledged leader of intercollegiate athletics in the Western conference, will enter its 1927-28 varsity program next month with a record of having scored victories 71.43 per cent of the time over its opponents in the four major sports of football, baseball, track and basketball. No school in the conference can claim the distinction of having defeated Michigan more times than it has itself been forced to accept loss at the hands of the Wolverines in the four major sports and in each of the branches Michigan holds a decided advantage over all except Indiana, Chicago and Ohio State in basketball.

First indication of Michigan's subsequent success on the gridiron occurred in 1890, when the Wolverine gridders of that year turned back Purdue by a 34 to 6 score. Up to and including the 1926 season, Michigan proved successful in 80 contests out of a total of 109 which were played against Big Ten opponents, four of the games resulting in ties while 25 were chalked up on the wrong side of the ledger.

Baseball added considerably to Michigan's preeminence in western conference major sports. On 192 occasions, the Maise and Blue ball tossers were returned winners, three games resulted in ties and 63 in defeats. On the track, Michigan scored 41 dual meet wins to 8 for its combined opponents, while the Wolverine court quintet has established a record of 62 victories and 54 losses with Big Ten opponents during its history.

The figures show that out of a total of 525 major sports contests played to date, 375 were won by Michigan, 7 were tied and 150 were lost, giving the Wolverines a winning average or nearly 75 per cent.

Clark and Midway To Fight Tuesday

Clark To Box French And Miway Meets "Polish Wonder"

PEROTA AND ROMEO PACELLI WIN BOUTS

By ED. FRITZ
Sports Editor

Disciples of the tin ear fraternity who prefer punch instead of class should have their appetites fully appeased Tuesday night when they hike or ride to Idora Park, Youngstown, to witness Promoter Al Zill's pugilistic offering.

There are 10 members of the fistic cult scheduled to entertain the crowd, and while none of them are within reaching distance of lasting fame, the entire aggregation is credited with being eager to wallop each other for the entertainment of the fans.

Among the 10 are two New Castle boys, Joe Clark, a heavyweight, and Joe Midway, a middleweight. Each of them came here imbued with the hope of some day seeing their names emblazoned in all the sport sheets of the country, and are anxious to get a real start Tuesday night.

Clark is said to be a promising recruit, while Midway is rugged and not a bit bashful about swapping punches. Clark is carded to meet Mel French and should he win will get a shot at Emmett Rocco. Midway is to tangle with a middleweight who styles himself the "Polish Wonder".

FITZGERALD AND BURNS IN FINAL

These two affairs will be preliminaries, which will also include battles between Joe Canell and Keefe Buckley and Jackie Powers against Kike Goldman. The former brace romp at 135 pounds, while Powers and Goldman are flyweights.

The chief attraction of the evening will be between Freddy Fitzgerald of Youngstown and Benny Burns of Akron, lightweights. Fitzgerald has earned an enviable reputation hereabouts, while Burns is credited with being, in the parlance of the ring, "a good boy".

GEORGE PEROTTA AND PACELLI WIN

George Perotta, middleweight, and Romeo Pacelli, lightweight, of New Castle, scored knockouts in Erie Friday night, according to Erie newspapers. Perotta knocked out Red Jaderberg in the second and Pacelli stopped Teddy Hayes in two sessions.

It was Perotta's first attempt to come back and he dropped Jaderberg with stomach punches in the first round. While fighting at close quarters in a neutral corner in the second frame he ripped a hook to the solar plexus that won the fight.

SOMETHING ABOUT THIS BOY ROMEO

According to Joe Martin in the Times, "Teddy Hayes of Erie found himself pitted against a hard punching lad from New Castle in Romeo Pacelli, who dropped Hayes in the first round for a one count and dropped him again just before the bell." Martin writes the end came in the second after Hayes had been floored for a count of eight.

Perotta went to Erie several months ago and announced his intention of starting anew. Pacelli followed him and it is said they are both fighting for a manager named O'Connell. No doubt their quick knockouts will bring them future bouts.

DUNN AND KILBANE VISIT NEW CASTLE

Jimmie Dunn and Johnny Kilbane, who, several years ago, could be referred to as the "Damon and Pythias", paid a week-end visit to their old haunts, Apple Alley and North Mercer street, and after fraternizing with some older members of the local fistic colony, departed for their homes in Cleveland Sunday night.

Had a promoter approached the aggregation which gathered here yesterday, it is probable he would have had to sign his Mr. John Mcnaker to a check for approximately $75,000—had all of them been able to roll back some of the years from their lives. In the group were Jimmie Dime, George Chip and Tam McMahon.

SIZE OF PURSES HAS INCREASED

Not a single one of 'em would have stepped back from any of the present day crop of fighters. Dime was a "socker" in the 128-pound division and fought all the topnotchers; Dunn was a clever ace in the days of Tommy Murphy, Attel, Welsh and others, while McMahon mingled with the Gunboat Smiths, the Al Kaufmans and Levinskys and Chip dethroned the bearcat, Frank Klaus.

In the days of Dime a big purse was considered as a "grand". In the days of Dunn, likewise, but "five grand" or five thousand dollars, was about the sweetest lump of sugar Chip or McMahon received for a stellar pugilistic endeavor. Kilbane, however, when he fought Eugene Criqui drew down the wholesome lump of $60,000, though he lost his title.

TONY ROSS ALSO ARRIVES IN CITY

Shortly after the "two inseparables", Dunn and Kilbane, crawled into Dunn's limousine and departed for Cleveland, who should arrive but Tony Ross, the former heavyweight, who in his day mingled with the Langfords, Jeannettes, Jim Barry, Mike Schreck and Jack Johnson.

Ross said he would have been glad to have been here in time to meet Dunn, with whom he trained when they, with Patsy Brannigan, started out to emblazon the name of New Castle as a city famed for boxers. Tony appeared the picture of health and prosperity.

A mixed trio held up a bank in Virginia the other day. Apparently some mixed trios are as bad off the vaudeville stage as they are on it.—The Los Angeles Times.

Cubs Go East With Big Lead

Chicago Bruins Advance Eastward Supporting Five-Game Lead

YANKEES ALMOST SURE OF FLAG

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Fortified by a lead of five games, Chicago's league leading Cubs are enroute to the east today on their last road trip of the season. During their long stay at home the Bruins won thirteen games and lost only four, a record better than that of any other contender except the Giants, who have won fourteen of their last eighteen contests.

The Cubs trimmed the Reds again yesterday, 7 to 2, sweeping the series. They kayoed Red Lucas in the seventh, scoring four runs. George Kelly, back at first base for the Reds after a long illness, got three hits.

The Pirates cinched their hold on second place by downing the Cardinals 5 to 1. The world's champions now trail the Bucs by two games and are only one game in front of New York.

The Giants copped their fifth straight game as Larry Benton, the league's leading pitcher, held the Phillies to four hits and won a 3 to 1 duel from Alex Ferguson. Benton has won eight straight games since the giants got him from Boston.

The Giants have bought Catcher Al Spohrer from the Wilkes-Barre team of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Kent Greenfield of the Braves limited Brooklyn to four hits and with the aid of homers by Fournier, Welsh and Hogan, whitewashed the Robins 4 to 0. Boston now trails the sixth-place Dodgers by less than a game.

Waite Hoyt, Yankee ace, and leading pitcher of the American League, chalked up his seventeenth victory of the season, holding the Senators to five bingles and winning in a romp 6 to 2. With a lead of thirteen games, the Yankees are practically "in".

Three errors by Melillo staked the Tigers to a 6 to 5 victory over the Browns, who has lost five straight to Detroit.

The White Sox broke their losing streak by trouncing Cleveland, 7 to 3. A double by Neis, former Indian, with the bases full put the game on ice.

The Athletics and Red Sox did not play.

New Castle Is Beaten By Erie

Meis Hits Two Batters And Successive Singles Net Victory

JAMISON LASTS THREE INNINGS

Moll Meis hit Ward and Jagerman with pitched balls in the seventh inning Saturday afternoon and when Sykes and McAndrews followed with singles through short the Sailors gathered two runs which gave Erie a five to four victory over New Castle at Centennial field.

Erie got to Jamison for seven hits which resulted in three runs in the first three innigs and a fluke blow by Bernlohr in the last of the third gave New Castle two runs and when the fourth session started Meis was sent to the mound.

"Cents" Lose When Meis Hits Batters

With the score three to two in the sixth Fitch doubled, advanced to third on Demont's grounder to first and Bryan slammed a single which went far enough to give Fitch an opportunity to race across the pan with the deadlocking score.

The break that cost New Castle the game came in the seventh when Meis lost control and hit Ward and Jagerman successive batters and the former scored on Sykes single through short and Jagerman raced home with the winning run on a single blow by McAndrews.

Lawrence went to bat for New Castle in the last of the seventh and lifted a triple and when a passed ball got away from Jagerman he fled across the home plate with New Castle's fourth run but the Centennials were retired before the score could be deadlocked.

Neither team could score in the last two frames. The box score:

PIRATES DEFEAT ST. LOUIS CARDS

Ray Kremer Outpitches Sherdel And H. Bell At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—The Pirates scored their second straight victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, five to one Sunday afternoon, tightening their clutch on second place. The victory was won under trying circumstances as a shower held up the contest during the third frame for an hour converting the field into a sea of mud. Ray Kremer held the Cards to six hats while Sherdel and H. Bell were on the oposite mound, Sherdel being credited with the defeat. Manager Bush entered the game with Grantham benched and Harris on first. Spencer went behind the bat. Hal Rhyne hit off second and Harris took his turn seventh. The box score:

SORDS POINTS

Waite Hoyt's Quite a Schoolboy at Twenty-Seven

Pitching winning ball for the New York Yankees is a simple matter. You hold the opposition to 10 or 12 runs and let Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and the other boys whale the other fellow for a working margin of 10 or 13 more.

But apparently Waite Hoyt veteran of the Yankee entourage, isn't content to drift along like that. He is out to prove to the world that at 27 and with 12 years experience behind him the school boy is still a boy.

Recent pitching averages showed Hoyt to be allowing fewer runs to a game. His earned run average was around 2.77. The records also reveal that in one stretch of 21 starts Waite hurled 15 complete games. At the rate he has been going he stands a chance not only of taking down the effective pitching honors but of arguing it out for the winning average honors.

Twelve years ago Hoyt drew attention by his flinging for a Brooklyn high school. The next year the Giants sent him to the tall timber. He labored in the Pennsylvania State league, the Eastern league, ths Southern and International before the Giants gave him a chance in 1918. He broke into just one inning that year. Fanned two batters and held the others hitless.

Then he was sent to Newark and after the World War found himself pitching for the Red Sox. After two uneventful seasons there he was sent to New York with three other players for four Yankee discards—one of the wholesale cracker barrel deals that made Harry Frazee so unpopular in baseball.

In the six seasons ending with the close of the 1926 campaign Hoyt won an even 100 games for the Hugmen and lost 73. In the three big years—1921, 23—he was one of the outstanding stars of the staff, winning a total of 55 games in the three years and losing but 34.

In 1925 the year the Yankees went flooy Hoyt dropped into the losing pitcher class for the first and only time in his career with the team winning 11 games and losing 14.

Last year he won 16 and lost 12.

He has broken even in the four world's series in which he has hurled, winning two and losing one in the hectic series of 1921 losing one game in 1922 and winning and losing one last fall.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Attacks on Charleston.

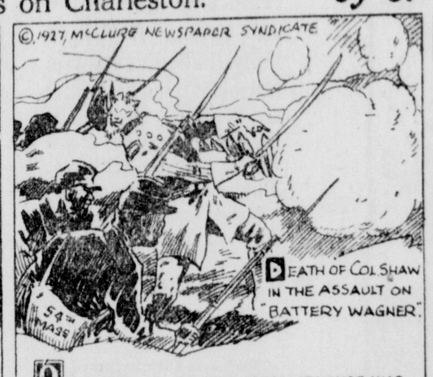

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AFTER TWO YEARS OF FIGHTING, THE UNION NAVAL AND MILITARY FORCES HAD GAINED CONTROL OF ALL THE ATLANTIC COAST EXCEPT CHARLESTON AND WILMINGTON (N. C.). IN APRIL, 1863, A POWERFUL FEDERAL FLEET OF NEWLY BUILT "MONITORS" UNDER COMMAND OF ADMIRAL DU PONT STEAMED INTO CHARLESTON HARBOR AND BOMBARDED FORTS SUMTER AND MOULTRIE, BUT RETIRED, CONSIDERABLY DAMAGED BY THE UNERRING FIRE OF THE CONFEDERATE GUNNERS.

IN JULY, 1863, THE FEDERALS AGAIN ATTACKED CHARLESTON. A STRONG FORCE OF UNION TROOPS WAS LANDED ON MORRIS ISLAND AND ADVANCED AGAINST THE CONFEDERATE DEFENSES, WHILE THE FLEET SHELLED FORT SUMTER AND THE SHORE BATTERIES. AFTER A WEEK, SUMTER WAS IN RUINS. IT WAS NOT TAKEN, HOWEVER, AND REMAINED IN CONFEDERATE HANDS UNTIL CHARLESTON WAS EVACUATED (FEBRUARY, 1865).

ON MORRIS ISLAND THE UNION ADVANCE WAS BARRED BY "BATTERY WAGNER," A STRONGLY DEFENDED POSITION. TWICE THE FEDERALS TRIED TO CARRY THE WORKS BY STORM, BUT WERE BEATEN OFF WITH HEAVY LOSSES. IN THE SECOND ASSAULT COL. ROBERT SHAW WAS KILLED WHILE LEADING A CHARGE OF HIS COLORED TROOPS.

THE NORTHERN TROOPS THEN RESORTED TO SIEGE TACTICS, WHICH RESULTED IN THE CAPTURE OF "BATTERY WAGNER" AND MORRIS ISLAND. BUT THE CONFEDERATES STILL HELD A FIRM GRIP ON CHARLESTON, AND THE PLACE WAS NOT ATTACKED AGAIN FOR MORE THAN A YEAR.

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Twelve stitches were required to sew the wound on Mrs. Max Freeman's neck here today, following a collision between two automobiles on a one-way bridge on the Conneaut Lake road.

Mrs. Freeman was from Akron, O., and with a party of friends was driving through here. She was taken to the Spencer hospital. None of the others was injured.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, August 15.—News of Judge Gary's death was without special effect on the stock market today, the industrial stocks, which had been slighty reactionary on the early unconfirmed report of his passing away, firmed up as heavy supporting orders filed into the market, and most of the important industrial shares recovered the losses sustained in the first period.

Though Judge Gary died at 3:30 o'clock this morning, announcement of his death was withheld from the financial district until about 10:40 a. m., the opening prices of most stocks were within a point of Saturday's close, Steel Common being down only an eighth and General Motors up nearly a point. In the next half hour Steel declined a point to 130¼, but promptly rallied to 131⅜ when the news was flashed to the world.

The market as a whole was steady, with a perceptible decline in the volume of stocks offered for sale and an almost cessation of the activities of the professionals on the floor of the exchange. It was generally believed that the directors of the Steel Corporation had made ample provision for the filling of the gap caused by Judge Gary's death, since his retirement has been discussed so fully in the last two years. Some of the most powerful industrial and financial magnates of American business are in active control of the Steel Corporation's affairs, and it is believed that Judge Gary's death will necessitate no radical changes in the management of its affairs.

Soon Add Penalty To County Taxes

County taxes are coming in slowly this month according to County Treasurer David S. Nessle and from the indications thus far in the month, many taxpayers are going to pay five per cent penalty. During August the county taxes are at their face value, on September 1st they have the penalty added.

There are a number of mercantile taxes unpaid also and these two have a penalty added on September 1st.

Uniform Warning Signals For State Grade Crossings

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 15.—Uniform types of warning signals at all railroad grade crossings will be adopted under plans on which the Public Service Commission today is working. The commission announced it is prepared to go ahead at once with standardization work.

The Department of Highways and the various railroads of the State have promised to cooperate in speeding the work as much as possible.

The warning adopted will be an alternating flashing red light signal and will be actuated by movement of trains. A constantly flashing yellow light will be placed on the highways in advance of crossings that are hid from view.

Railway companies affected will be instructed to install and maintain the signals. The Department of Highways will pay one half the cost of installation.

Because of the widely varying conditions existing at the approaches of the crossings affected additional warning lights may be ordered under some conditions.

The work of standardization will be under the direction of John Dohoney, chief of the bureau of accidents of the commission.

Printers Oppose Seven Hour Day

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 15.—The diamond jubilee convention of the International Typographical Union was at an end Saturday after one of the stormiest sessions on record.

The last act of the delegates was to vote down the proposal to approve a seven-hour day for members. Although there was considerable discussion on the subject, the vote on the unfavorable report of the special committee was overwhelmingly against action at this time.

William F. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, delivered the chief address of the convention late Friday, sounding a warning against political strife and internal factionalism.

Young People Hear Colored Singers

Young Peoples' Societies Hold Joint Meeting At Highland Church On Sunday Evening

An interesting joint meeting of the Young People's Societies of the First, Second and Highland United Presbyterian churches was held last night at the Highland U. P. church at 7:30 o'clock.

Interesting features of the meeting were the selections rendered by the Myers quartet, composd of colored singers, and the Union Baptist church quartet. Those present enjoyed the songs immensely.

Miss Berta Dodds, member of the Highland society and also missionary secretary of the Y. P. C. U. of Beaver valley, gave a report on the New Wilmington missionary conference held last week.
